

READS FOR TURNERS

Mr. Ernst Giehrer Gives an Excellent Programme.

GIVES TWO NATIONS' POETRY

Musical Selections Are Furnished by Section of Marine Band Under the Leadership of S. Scharbau—Board of Directors Hold Meeting To-night to Transact Important Business.

Intellectual culture standing beside physical culture as the basic principles of the Columbia Turn-verein, its members, friends, and invited guests assembled in large numbers at the Verein auditorium last night, where they were entertained with an excellent programme of recitations, consisting of American and German poetry, by the well-known German elocutionist and orator, Ernst Giehrer.

The programme was interspersed with musical selections by a section of the Marine Band, under the leadership of S. Scharbau.

So far as the work of Mr. Giehrer was concerned, his rendition of "The Gold Diggers of Arizona," by Joaquin Miller, and "The Lynch Court in the Forest," by Edward Grosse, showed deep study, a fine understanding, and highly artistic interpretation.

Full Dramatic Force.

He retained in his German translation the full dramatic force and original sentiment and meaning of the poet, which, as a rule, is considerably impaired either in the translation or the rendition.

The musical part of the programme, as presented by the section of the Marine Band, contributed much to make the programme the artistic success it was, the various selections being interpreted with artistic finesse, and fine and correct understanding.

The following programme was given:

Election of Officers.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Turnverein held Friday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Karoline Mann, president; Mrs. Regina Amber, vice president; Mrs. Pauline Walther, secretary; Mrs. Anna Schroeder, financial secretary; Mrs. Ida Halfter, treasurer. The reading of the annual reports showed that the society is in a flourishing condition.

The board of directors will meet this evening and transact business of importance. The contract with the newly engaged physical instructor, Dr. Otto Goepel, of Wilmington, will be discussed and signed. Prof. Goepel is one of the best known turner leaders in this country, being a graduate of the turner gymnasium of Milwaukee and other institutions.

Another question to be discussed is the renting of a farm, with river front, to be used by the members and pupils of the society in the hot summer months as a place of recreation and rest, as well as summer exercises, such as swimming, boating, and other aquatic sports.

From German Classes.

The German language and drawing classes are now forming, and the enrollment indicates that a lively interest in these studies is manifested on the part of the parents as well as pupils. It is also the intention of the society to establish a singing section, as there are many members who desire to see this branch of education incorporated in the curriculum of the turnverein.

Prof. Spanhoff, of the public schools, introduced Mr. Giehrer, and P. E. Mann, secretary of the society, extended to him the thanks of the society.

WANT STUDENTS RELEASED.

Ann Arbor Merchants Ask that the Rioters Be Not Prosecuted.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 22.—To prevent prosecution of the fifteen students now held in bonds of $1,000 each for the recent riot, the business men of Ann Arbor are circulating a petition addressed to Prosecuting Attorney A. J. Sawyer and Justice of the Peace W. O. Deely.

The petition, which is being signed rapidly by the influential men of the city, asks that the students be discharged upon payment of all the damages done to property and costs incurred by the city and county.

The move is announced as a plan to prevent further publicity, promote good feeling, and save the city and county thousands of dollars in costs.

A YEAR WITH GYPSIES.

New York Boy Finally Recalls Name of His Home Town.

Fall River, March 22.—Leonard Allen, the sixteen-year-old boy who was found in the camp of Joe Stanley, a gypsy, here last week, has recovered sufficiently to give a partial account of his trials.

The boy said that when the Milton, N. Y., fair was in progress in 1907, he and his younger brother went one afternoon to see a balloon ascension. On one side of the grounds there was a camp of gypsies. The ponies that roamed near the camp caught Leonard's eye, and he left his brother and went to see them.

The boy's story is that upon entering one of the gypsy tents, he was seized and put into a closed wagon. He cried to be released, but his appeals brought no response. Some time in the night, he says, the gypsies started on their journey. Two days afterward he was put to work in the stable tent.

The gypsies were then in a wilderness, and not knowing what way to go if he ran away, and afraid of being punished if he made a break, he decided to stay in the camp to await a more favorable opportunity.

Leonard says he has been transferred from one gypsy camp to another and carried from State to State until finally, in his weakened mental condition, he began to forget his home and parents. Now he doesn't even recall what his mother looked like.

He remembers distinctly the name of his home city, but it was not until his memory had been refreshed that he recalled the street he lived on.

OPEN SHOP PLAN IN FORCE.

Striking Tailors at Ithaca Go Back at the Old Schedule.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 22.—Organized labor suffered a severe set back in this city to-day when the representatives of the striking tailors signed an agreement with their former employers, whereby the strikers are to go back to work at the old schedule, and fail to win a single concession asked for when the strike began.

Under the new agreement, shops which up to the time of the strike had been union will now be conducted on the open shop plan. The wage increase at the rate of the men will be put into operation.

About 100 men quit work early last night. They have been supported by benefits and assessments from all the local unions, and from national organizations. The employers imported strike breakers, and refused absolutely to negotiate.

VOICE FROM AFRICA

Evangelist David Russell Addresses Y. M. C. A.

"THE TRAGEDY OF THE SOUL"

Cites the Story of Herod and John the Baptist as Descriptive of the Battle Between Good and Evil that Every Man Must Fight, and of the Choice Each Must Make.

Rev. David Russell, of South Africa, addressed more than 300 men at the mass meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association Building, yesterday afternoon, on "The Tragedy of the Soul."

Mr. Russell is known as the foremost speaker to men in South Africa. His lecture, yesterday, based on the story of Herod and John the Baptist, demonstrated to a large audience that his reputation as a pioneer evangelist is not exaggerated.

Fight Between Good and Evil.

"Every soul is a battlefield, between good and evil," said Mr. Russell. "In which is fought out the great fight between good and evil."

"Whenever the human soul becomes filled with the spirit of God, the spirit of all good, the spirit of all evil will combat it in the shock of battle. One or the other will be the victor, according to the side with which the will power of the individual takes sides."

Tragedies which continually occur in the minds of men were described by the evangelist as similar to the life of David and Saul as told in the Bible.

Herod and John the Baptist.

"In Holy Writ," said the evangelist, "there is no sadder tragedy than the story of Herod and John the Baptist. Herod longed to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, yet he perished within sight of God. John the Baptist desired to be united with God, lived a life of exemplification, and died in peace with his Maker."

"These two men had souls capable of loving God, but how differently they demonstrated this power."

Here Mr. Russell related in detail the story of Herod and John, calling particular attention to the fact that King Herod, when hidden by John to give up riotous living and forsake his brother's wife, Herodias, refused.

Choice Between Good and Evil.

"This is the great test that confronts every man," Herod was undecided whether he should give up God or Herodias. Like thousands of men, the present day, he tried to compromise. No man yet has successfully compounded with his conscience."

The details leading up to the beheading of John at the behest of Herodias were recited by the lecturer. The crime thereby committed was termed "the greatest of all sins."

"Herod died a hated man. Like him, men of to-day willingly continue to lead bad lives and in that great test of men's lives, when they must either choose between God and perdition, they choose evil, and in the end die miserable wretches. Young men, take this lesson as a warning and make your peace with God."

YOUNG RAYNER STILL MISSING

Maryland Senator Worried by Disappearance of Son.

Last Trace of Him in Western Pennsylvania, Near Harpers Ferry.

Baltimore, March 22.—No tidings have as yet been received from William B. Rayner, son of United States Senator Rayner, who disappeared from his home here about a week ago. The Senator is much distressed and the young man's wife is prostrated.

Senator Rayner said to-night that he was entirely at sea as to his son's whereabouts.

An intimate friend of the family said to-night he had been seen on a train, and had said that he was going to Gettysburg. Thence he went to Harpers Ferry, and from there into the western part of Pennsylvania. There all trace of him was lost.

Until about six months ago Rayner scarcely ever left home without saying where he was going or when he would return. He was a most devoted husband and father, and spent most every hour of his spare time with his wife and children. It began to be observed, however, about this time that he was suffering from some peculiar nervous troubles, which the physicians at that time pronounced incurable. The malady, however, began to develop to such an extent lately that rapid inroads were being made upon his health and nervous system.

REWARD FOR HUSBAND.

Woman Advertiser for Man Who Used Ladder to Get Away.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 22.—"Fifty dollars reward. Anybody finding or bringing Charles L. Black to Wilkes-Barre will get the above reward, as he has deserted me without cause.—Mrs. C. L. Black."

Charles Black fired of domestic unhappiness about five weeks ago. He placed a stepladder against the window of his room, and at night, while his wife was sleeping, stole away. Mrs. Black and the police have scoured the city in search of him, but he escaped their traps.

To-day Mrs. Black got a number of rewards offering a reward, and jauntily marched around the city tacking them to fences, poles, and other prominent places. Black was formerly a Philadelphia street car employee. They were married less than a year ago.

BURIAL OF HOSFORD

Funeral Conducted Under Auspices of Masons.

GRIDIRON CLUB PARTICIPATES

Master of New Jerusalem Lodge, Edwin S. Clarkson, Begins Services with Simple Prayer, After Which the Body Is Taken to Congressional Cemetery—Prominent Men Attend.

With the full ritual of the Masonic order, of which the deceased journalist was a prominent member, the body of Frank H. Hosford, who died last night on Friday last, was laid to rest in Congressional Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Prominent men in all walks of life assembled to pay final tribute to Mr. Hosford's memory. Senator Smith, Thomas F. Walsh, and many of the best known newspaper men, including a large delegation from the Gridiron Club, were present when services were held in Zuerhorst's undertaking establishment, 301 East Capitol street.

There were a number of floral pieces, which had been sent by sorrowing friends. The services began with a simple prayer by Edwin S. Clarkson, master of New Jerusalem Lodge, F. A. A. M., at 2:30 o'clock. The body was then conducted to the cemetery, the bearers including: Edward Matthews and James O. Roller, of New Jerusalem Lodge, No. 9, F. A. A. M.; Claude J. Allen and William A. Kimmel, of Mount Herod Royal Arch Chapter; W. W. Jerome, Edgar C. Snyder, and Arthur W. Dunn, of the Gridiron Club; and Jacob S. Jones and Warren J. Coffin, of the Knights of Pythias.

Among the representatives of the Gridiron Club present were J. H. Aubrey, P. V. De Graw, A. J. Dodge, A. W. Dunn, R. L. Fearn, Henry Hall, J. S. Henry, W. W. Jerome, S. E. Johnson, Raymond Patterson, C. Randolph, F. A. Richardson, John S. Shriver, O. O. Stealey, A. J. Stoffer, Alexander Mosher, and John H. Nolan.

The press gallery at the Capitol was represented by Charles Hamilton, John Boyle, and other correspondents.

Business men, politicians, and members of the Washington newspaper staffs were among the 250 present.

Resolutions of condolence have been drawn up by committees representing the Gridiron Club and the press gallery at the Capitol. They will be engrossed and sent to the bereaved family.

Among the floral pieces was a plaque of roses, lilies, and palm leaves, tied with black and white ribbon, sent by the Gridiron Club. It was the only place resting on the casket, the other floral tributes being banked around the chapel.

GIRL'S ASSAILANT IS HELD

Richmond Nurse Will Try to Identify Negro To-day.

Andrew Jackson Knows Why He Is Arrested, but Denies the Crime.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Richmond, Va., March 22.—Andrew Jackson, colored, who was arrested last night, charged with an attempted attack upon Miss Elizabeth Lee Frazer, will be given a preliminary hearing in police court to-morrow morning, at which time the victim will be afforded an opportunity of identifying him as her assailant.

The man was taken before the girl last night several hours after the occurrence, but her condition was then such that it was impossible for her to be certain that she recognized him.

Miss Frazer, who is a trained nurse, was seized by the man as she was passing along the street in the early evening and dragged into an alley, where, after being several times struck in the face by her assailant, she made her escape and fled to her home, in a bruised and hysterical condition.

The escape of Miss Frazer was due to her terrified screams and valiant resistance, her cries attracting to her assistance a number of skaters in a nearby park, whose presence frightened the negro into releasing her.

The negro, when arrested, told the officers that he knew the crime of which he was charged, in the same breath denying that he had attacked the young woman.

TWO FIRES IN ONE DAY.

West Virginia Town Suffers Heavy Loss—Aged Man Is Dead.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Cumberland, Md., March 22.—Burlington, Mineral County, W. Va., near Keyser, was visited by two fires yesterday. The store building occupied by W. C. High and owned by the Vandiver heirs was destroyed, the loss being $3,000 and insurance $2,000. A shed in the rear containing wagons and farming implements was also destroyed, as was an icehouse filled with ice, and a barn. The home of James T. Norwood was destroyed later, with its contents.

It is expected that the new Evangelical Lutheran church at Elkins, W. Va., will be completed in time for services at Easter. Rev. W. C. Ney is pastor.

Jacob H. Long, who served a term in the West Virginia legislature, is dead at his home in Elkins, aged eighty-one years. Adam H. Long, a brother, aged ninety years, survives.

SUSAN A. DAWSON DEAD.

Member of Noted Family of Montgomery County Passes Away.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Boyle, Md., March 22.—Miss Susan A. Dawson, one of the most prominent women in this section of Montgomery County, died at her home near Dawsonville yesterday, aged seventy-five years.

Miss Dawson was a daughter of the late Dr. Benson Dawson, who aided in the founding of Dawsonville, this county. She was a sister of Frederick A. Dawson, who died last fall, one of the most prominent and esteemed men of this section.

The forefathers of the Dawson family, of which Miss Susan was a member, came to this country from England in the late years of the seventeenth century, and settled in the Chesapeake Bay country. Their children now reside in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

Miss Dawson is survived by two sisters, Miss Adelaide Dawson, now at home, and Mrs. Elizabeth Darny, of near Dawsonville.

CORPSE IN BUSHES

Believed to Be Murdered Body of Charles Needham.

MAN MISSING THREE MONTHS

Indications of Violence—Skull Is Crushed In—Negro Boys Make Discovery—Coroner and Jury to Conduct Investigation—Effects Found in Road on Night of Disappearance.

A body, believed to be that of Charles Needham, a piano repairer, and a musician, was found hidden in a dense clump of bushes in Roberts' Woods, near Camp Springs, Prince George County, Md.

The man had been dead for about three months. The body is badly decomposed. It is believed to have been murdered.

The corpse was found at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by two negro boys. It was lying face upward.

Paper in Pockets Identified.

A piece of paper was found in one of the pockets of the clothes on the body was written the name Philip Snyder, and the address, 518 E street southeast.

Mr. Snyder was seen and identified the paper as one he had given Charles Needham several months ago.

Needham was last seen alive on December 22. The same night his hat, gloves, a tobacco box, and a flask of whisky were found on the road directly in front of the path leading toward the bushes where his body was found.

He had been known as a heavy drinker and it was the opinion that Needham had dropped these articles while intoxicated.

Jury Continues Investigation.

Coroner Edmund Tolson was notified of the finding and a jury was impaneled. The jury visited the scene and examined the body and the woods surrounding.

The decomposed condition of the body made it impossible to determine whether there were marks of violence. A depression in the skull is believed, however, to have been caused by a blow with a blunt instrument.

The jury, after deliberating for some time, decided to continue their investigation until to-day. An autopsy will be performed.

Needham was first heard of early in December. At that time he obtained employment from Philip Snyder. He played and repaired the piano and did chores about the house.

Later he left the Snyder home and found employment about the saloon of John M. Becker, at 1120 Eighth street southeast. He played the piano in the drinking room and tended to Becker's horses.

On December 25 he was employed by Joseph Blandford, a contractor, living near Camp Springs. He went with Blandford to his home and worked for three days.

Disappears December 29.

On December 29 he left Blandford's and started on foot for Washington. That night his hat, gloves, tobacco box, and a bottle of whisky were found in the road several miles from Blandford's home.

Yesterday morning two negro boys, both named Sims, who live near Camp Springs, were searching the woods for violets. In a dense clump of bushes they found the corpse. The boys hurried to the home of Coroner Tolson.

The coroner, his jury, and Sheriff Frank D. Hurd went to the woods and valiantly searched the vicinity for signs of murder. The ground from the road to the body looked as if a heavy object had been dragged over it. The clothing on the body was rolled under the man's head, showing that he had been dragged into the bushes feet foremost. Cloths and leaves were also piled under the body in a way to strengthen this theory.

Apparel of Corpse.

The corpse was dressed in a coat and vest, dark sweater, dark trousers, and black lace shoes. The clothing was stained with mud. Near the lapel of the coat are stains, believed to be blood.

Philip Snyder said last night that Needham, also known as "Roscoe," had frequently told him about relatives he had in Lowell, Mass.

Sheriff Hurd believes the man was murdered, and will attempt to fasten the crime on several strange negroes who were around Camp Springs about the time Needham disappeared.

WILL BUILD PAPER MILL.

John W. Gates Plans Improvements of Port Arthur Harbor.

Port Arthur, Tex., March 22.—John W. Gates, in a public address at a mass meeting of citizens of Port Arthur, announced his intention of making this place the greatest deep water port on the Gulf of Mexico. He stated that he succeeded in procuring the establishment here of a paper mill which will cost $1,000,000. The pulp will be obtained from cypress and gum. It is intended that the mill shall furnish paper at low prices for the newspapers of Texas in competition with the paper-mill trust.

He said that he had also secured for Port Arthur a large cotton seed oil mill and a big fertilizing plant. He promised to build one or more railroads into the town within the next twelve months. He stated that he had taken hold of the Port Arthur and Houston short line railroad project, and had raised $75,000 in New York in aid of that proposed line. He has added $500,000 to the amount raised, making $1,000,000 now ready.

Mr. Gates said that he had arranged to establish a steamship line between Port Arthur and Central America, Cuba, and Porto Rico ports. He offered to pay one-third of the cost of cutting a canal to connect the Sabine River with Lake Charles, La.

Big Fire in Dallas, Tex.

Dallas, March 22.—Fire to-day destroyed a block in the center of the business district of Galveston, Tex. The losses exceed $50,000. The sawney Hotel was destroyed, the guests losing all of their personal effects. The Elks club building is in ruins.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Col. John W. Fairfax Passes Away at Age of Eighty.

ON GEN. LONGSTREET'S STAFF

Wife of Col. Charles Ayers, U. S. A., Retired, a Daughter of Deceased. Conductor Hettell Cut by Negro Passenger of Mount Vernon Car. Town of Potomac Near Oxon.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, (Bell Telephone 68.)

Alexandria, Va., March 22.—Col. John W. Fairfax, a former Confederate soldier and a prominent resident of Virginia, died this morning at his home at Freestone, Prince William County, after a lingering illness. The remains were brought here and taken to the undertaking establishment of B. Wheatley and prepared for burial. They will be forwarded to Leesburg, Va., Tuesday, at which town the burial will take place.

Col. Fairfax was born at Freestone, and was in his eightieth year. For many years he was engaged in farming at that place. At the outbreak of the civil war, he joined the Confederate army, and for his gallantry he received rapid promotion, and he served as a colonel on Gen. Longstreet's staff. At the close of hostilities, he returned and engaged in farming.

Col. Fairfax is survived by the following children: Henry Fairfax, of Oak Hill, Loudoun County, Va., who served in the State legislature from that county; Hamilton Fairfax, Lindsay Fairfax, and John Fairfax, of New York, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ayers, wife of Col. Charles Ayers, U. S. A., retired, also of New York.

Isiah Taylor and Gus Marshall, both colored, are locked up at police headquarters on a charge of engaging in a cutting affray, which occurred shortly after midnight Saturday night, near the intersection of Columbia and Wilkes streets.

As a result of the fracas Taylor was severely cut on the wrist with a knife, or some sharp instrument, alleged to have been wielded by Marshall, the cuts penetrating the bone. The injured man was conveyed to the Alexandria Hospital, where Dr. Lehnay took him into his ward. Marshall was slightly cut on the face. The men were arrested by Policemen Bell and Sampson, and they will be given a hearing in the Police Court to-morrow morning.

Conductor Hettell, of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway, was badly cut on the left side of the neck and on the leg, about midnight Saturday night while his train was near the Dyke, by a colored man said to be Isaac Ferguson.

The train was the last one from the city, and it frequently happens that a number of people who board it are more or less under the influence of liquor, and at times the conductors experience trouble.

Conductor Hettell returned to the city, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. W. M. Smith, after which he went to his home.

A colored woman giving the name of Annie Ferguson, and said to be the wife of the accused, was arrested to-day by Lieut. Smith on a charge of disorderly conduct. She deposited $5 collateral and was released.

The trip to Europe, Atlantic City, and Dallas, Tex., recently offered at the Elks' indoor carnival, which was held at Army Hall, under the auspices of Alexandria Lodge, No. 758, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be awarded at 9 o'clock to-morrow night.

A meeting of the officials of the town of Potomac, Alexandria County, will be held at the Del Ray schoolhouse at 8 o'clock to-morrow night for the purpose of organizing. The officers named in the charter of incorporation of the town will serve in that capacity and upon organizing will at once assume their duties.

Robert Downing, the converted actor, who left the stage for the pulpit, will make his initial appearance in Alexandria Sunday afternoon, April 5, when he will deliver an address before a men's meeting which will be held at the Young People's Building of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A large crowd will doubtless greet him.

Mr. T. F. Ellis, of Washington, will occupy the residence part of the handsome new station just completed by the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company, at Mount Vernon, and as agent will conduct a cafe at that place. It is Mr. Ellis' intention to move into his new quarters about April 25.

Representative J. Adam Bede, of Missouri, delivered an interesting address at a meeting before a large audience at a men's meeting held in the Young People's Building of the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday. He took for his subject: "The pursuit of happiness." A solo was rendered by Mr. George H. Evans.

The funeral of George O. Wunder took place this afternoon from his home in Alexandria County and was largely attended. The burial was made in the Congressional Cemetery, Washington.

Changes at Randolph-Macon.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Lynchburg, Va., March 22.—At least three new names will appear in the faculty of the Randolph-Macon Woman's College next season. Dr. Porter, professor of physics and astronomy, goes to the University of Tennessee next season. Miss Salisbury, who is at the head of the physical culture work, will retire, and another professor will be added to the chair of sociology and Bible history, which has been taught by Dr. Arnold.

Alleged Slaying Brought Back.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Bristol, Tenn., March 22.—Isiah Hildred, the young man wanted at Sneadsville for the murder of Andrew Harris, two years ago, and who was discovered at Fort Morgan, near Mobile, Ala., where he was enlisted in the United States army last week, was brought back to Sneadsville to-day. He will be tried before Judge A. J. Tyler, of Bristol, next month for the murder, which grew out of Harris having killed Hildred's dog.

GIRL OF FIFTEEN ELOPES.

Naughty Thing to Do, Says Judge Who Annuls Marriage.

Wilmington, Del., March 22.—Fifteen-year-old Elsie H. Malsberger appeared in Superior Court yesterday morning and asked the judges to annul her marriage to Harry C. Malsberger. She said she was married when fourteen years old, and admitted that she had deceived her husband as to her age.

Mrs. Malsberger informed the court that she was married without the knowledge or consent of her parents. "We ran away," she said.

"That was a very imprudent and naughty thing to do," remarked Judge Snodgrass as he granted the petition, and he parting advice of the judge was "not to marry any one else within the year."

ALFRED HENNEBERGER DEAD.

Hagerstown Resident Passes Away.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Hagerstown, Md., March 22.—Alfred Henneberger, aged seventy years, died suddenly at his home to-day, following an illness of a few days from grip. The immediate cause of death was heart trouble. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church. His wife died two years ago. Eight children survive.
